Dear Colleagues,

It is with great pleasure that we present to you the August 2024 Issue (Vol: 30, No: 4) of the European Journal of Therapeutics. In this issue, we continue to make important contributions to medicine and health sciences by sharing valuable original articles, reviews, special editorials, and interesting letters to the editor from various fields.

We believe the articles in this issue will significantly contribute to academic research and clinical practice. We invite you, esteemed researchers, to contribute your new studies to our journal.

The fact that more and more articles are submitted to our journal daily is precious for developing the journal. However, as the number of submitted articles increases, the need for reviewers also increases. In this regard, we would like to remind you once again that you can contribute to our journal by filling out the “Become a Reviewer” form on the journal’s website [1].

You can find more information about our journal on our website and follow our publications. We hope to share many more good news with you in the upcoming issues.

Yours sincerely,
